The retallors of shoes are doing more for humanity than the missionaries. They are trying to combine comfort and beauty. Their greatest difficulty is the customers. If he has a short, thick foot he inclines to a long, silm shoe. In the early days ready-made shoes came straight, with neither rights nor lefts. To-day there are nearly as many widths to length as there are sizes, and any natural foot can be fitted. A change in style does not benefit the retailor, only the manufacturer. It would be better for the retallor if the fashion never changed. As a people we do not improve. The ouly improvement comes with age. They were looking for their game, when they heard the sounds of a flerce combat between two mule elephants, and they at once tried to get into a position where they could witness the fray. Suddenly one of the animala dashed through the nullah just shead of them, mad with ruge and puln, and began mowing the hamboo down with trunk and tusks, and bearing the henviest part over with his forefeet. Mr. Sunderson

'An instant later his demeanor changed. Ho backed away and stood like a stutue. SINGULAR PHENOMENON.

Volcanic Underground Nolaca Resembling the Tolling of a Ball. A singular phenomonon occurs on the borders of the Red sea at a place called Nakous, where the intermittent underground aounds have been heard for an unknown number of centuries. It is situated at about half a mile's distance from the shore, whence a long reach of sand ascends rapidly to a height of almost three hundred feet. This reach is eighty feet wide, and resembles an amphitheater, being ralled in by low rocks. The sounds coming up from the ground at this place recur at intervals of about an liour. They ut first resemble a low murmur, but before loug there is heard a loud knocking, somewhat liko the strokes of a hell, and which, nt the end of five inlinutes, becomes so strong as to agitate the sund. The explanation of this curious phenomenon given by the Arabs Is that there is a convent under the ground, and these are sounds of the bell which the monks ring for prayers. So they enli it Nakous, which meaua a beil. Tho Arnbs uffirm that the noise so frightens their cameis when they hear it as to render them furious. Scientists attribute the sounds to suppressed volcanio action-probably to the bubbling of gas or vapors under-ground.—Philadelphin Ledger.

SILK FROM WOOD. A Recent Discovery of Greet Commercial

At Bradford, England, siik has been made from wood puip so much like the real thing that it bids fair to occupy a place in commerce and use. It is produced hy subjecting vegetable fiber to the action of various acids, the re-ault being a product said to be identical with the filament of the worm, having its lightness, Inster and ali its qual lties, including that of durability. Commercially speaking, says the Phil adelphia Ledger, the importance of the discovery can hardly be overestimated, and it is possible that it will produce the most revolutionary consequence in the trade in that commodity every-where. The world's stock of silk, both woven and raw, is immense and has always held a stapic value likely to be much shaken and disturbed by the in-trusion of a new supply which can be cheaply and abundantly produced. Samples of yarn, fringe, hraid, gimpa, sewing silks, handkerohiefs, bro-cades and other fabrics, dyed in various colors, have been exhibited by the liradford makers to the trade and pronounced all right and np to the co mercial standard in all respects. With artificial diamonds and rubies such as are now being turned out in great abundance, modern society will doubtless take ou a style of splendor hitherto unknown, ontshining the courts of Solomon or the queen of Sheba or the retinnes of Mahmoud or Haroun Al

AN AMERICAN AIR. A Garman Bond Loader's Idea of the Proper Thiag.

A good story was told by a Boston man who was in Antwerp while the preparations were in progress for the exposition. Representatives of all nations were there preparing exhibits from their respective countries. In the evening, says the Washington Star, all the visitors were in the habit of gath-ering in a large hall on the grounds to listen to the band play. Out of com-pliment to the visitors the national nirs of the different countries were played, and received an ovation from the group of that nationality in the hail. The night that our Boston friend attended the hand performance this playing of national airs was on the programme. known to Other Living Things. It is only reasonable to suppose that the ability to sustain an enormous pressure can only be acquired by animals after generations of gradual migrations from shallow waters, says a writer in Popular Sclence Monthly.

Those forms that are brought up by the dredge from the depths of the ocean are usually killed and distorted by the enormous and rapid diminution of pressure in their journey to the surface, and It is extremely probable that shallow-water forms would be aimilarly killed and crushed out of shape were they suddenly plunged into very deep water. The fish that live in these enormous depths arc, in consequence of the enormous pressure, liable to a curlous form of accident.

If, in chasing their prev or for any other reason, they rise to a considcrable distance above the floor of the ocean, the gases of their swim-Give them a call for anything in their ming-hlndder become considerably expanded and their specific gravity very greatly reduced. Up to bodies can counteract the tendency to regain its proper sphere of life at the bottom; hut beyond that limit in this entire regeon. the muscles are not strong enough to drive the body downward and the fish, becoming more and more distended as lt goes, ls gradually killed on its long and involuntary journey to the surface of the sea.

The dcep-sea fish, then, are exposed to a danger that no other animals in the world are subject tonamely, that of tumbling upward. That such accidents do occasionally occur is evidenced by the fact that some fish, which are known to be true deep-sea forms, were discovered dead and floating on the surface of the ocean long before our modern investigations were commenced.

The Case of Faritale.

The practical delcat of the Carlisle eurrency hill is a personal rebuke, of eourse, to the man whose name it nre emboding his views and desires, and its fate inplies a verdict against his fitness for the place he occupies. But it is not just to hold him entirely or even principally, responsible in the matter. He is the head of the most important department of the Government, and the one in which financial policies are supposed to be formulated; but at the same time he is the subordinate of the President, and subject to his general direction. It is true that he posseses some independent pawers, but they are not such as to make him his own master in a case of this kind. He owns his subject to removal by the same au. not be pastured, at least not closely, son and intelligence they occupy the appoinement to the President, and is thority. The fact is notorious that he was selected for the place not because of his own opinious and for the purpose of giving effect to them, but because of the belief that he was the best man to carry out such plaus as the other hand, while it has been his superior officer might see fit to propose. It may be that the bili just beaten his private approval, but that does not necessarily follow, and there are good reasons for thinking that he indorsed much of it merely in deference to the President.

There are those who will say that a Secretary of the Treasury Is not justifiable in thus accepting a measure or a policy that is any respect contrary to his individual views; but that is a question of casuistry that has nothlng to do with practical polities. He is an administrative officer, and must keep in line with the President, or he can not auccessfully perform his duties. In the event of antagonizing his chief, he would be powerless, and his position would be one of decided unpleasantness. It may be said that he has the privilege of resigning in preference to surrendering or modifying his personal opinions or That was what Alexander J. Dallas did when his tariff views were not as fully accepted by Madison as he had expected; and st a later date William J. Duane not only refused to ohey Jackson's order for the removal of the Government deposits from the United States Bank, but also relused to resign, and was peremptorily removed. But Carlisle is not bound to follow those precedents. He has a perfect right to decide for himself in a contingency of that kind, and to do what he thinks is best for his party and for the country. It is certain, at least, that he did not submit the bill in question without the President's concurrence-it was indorsed in the latter's message, as a matter of factand so the defect is really uot so much his as it is that of Cleveland .-[Globe Democrat.

Buckle, buckle, buckle! The girl who hasn't a buckle on her hat, her gown or her slipper is an anomaly. Never before since the time Mother Goose sang her rhyme has the buckle been so much in favor, says the New York Herald.

Buckles for the hat come mostly in rhinestones or cut steel, in both round and square designs. When they sparkle among nodding faathures or aestle in the heart of a rosette they are very effective. Next to these are the Juckles which adorn the Czariaas. The prevailing designs are in the scroll patterns, which are so much in vogue this season.

One very pretty buckle intended for a gorget had tiny diamonds, almost hidden by enameled leaves, so that they looked like tiny dewdrops that had escaped the rays of the sun. Another had the head of a sea horse embellished with gems.

A specially handsome helt buckle was shown an old gold Romanesque design, with one immense topaz surrounded by similar stones of the same kind. The dull color of the gold and the amber light of the gems made one think of the dark beauties of the East Such buckles as that ought to become family heirlooms. An Egyptian Chriseity.

In July, 1881, there were discovered in the ancient city of Thebes, the unumies of Egypt's mightiest Pharaolis, among them that of Rameses the Great. There were also found seals, coeus, statuettes, preserved food, and a few rolls of papyrus, some of the latter heing of great value, curiously bound together, and mildew of ages upon them, as easily read as for testimonials, free. if written yesterday. A queer little book entitled, "A Night with Rameses 11," has been executed so elevery, that the oxydized seal, suggestive of mould, antique coloring, and partinlly decayed and rag gededged papyrus carry at once to the mind the possession of a veritable relic from the dawn of civilization. THE HAT-PIN GAME.

Cultivates Quickness of the Eys and Discourages Streat Attentions. A gentleman who lives is a west sido fumily hotel has invented a new gamo to amuse his wife and at the samo cuitivate her powers of observation. It is not complicated and can be played by anyone who possesses a hat pin and good oyesight, snys an exchange.

In the morning hushand and wife agree upon a certain block as the field of operations. For the sake of convenience it may said that they choose the block on Twelfth street between Broadway and Central and on the south side thereof. When he goes to work he takes one of her hat pins and sticks it into the wood anywhere within arm's reach either abovo or below the waist line and iato any available woodwork, such as a door, post, a porch or a telegraph polo

When she goes down town shopping, or for any other womanly eason, she looks for it, and if sho fluds it she claims n roward, which he pays in gum, gloves or caady. To vary the monotony sho places tho pin and he endeavors to find it for a reward of eigars. Of course they change the block from time to time, as the eyes soon become accustomed to every available inch of wood in the

The Problem for Democrata. The country has wonderful recuperative powers. It is even able to stand two years of Democracy without losing more than about 30 per cent. of its business. The Congressional blockheads who imagined thal their free trade theories would introduce the millenuium, having no eyes to open, fail to see that the prostration of industries and the prostration of revenues go hand in hand. The imports in the last four mouts of 1892 before the old duties were disturbed were $272,000,000 and in the last four months of 1894 the imports were one year for $1.25 211,000,000 in value, a decrease of about 22 1/2 per cent. The duties on imports in four months under the new tariff have been $49,000,000, and in the same months of 1892 were $54-000,000. The Treasury is in trouble simply because the people are in trouble, and have not meaus to buy as much as usual. They have not means, because their wages have been reduced. Their wages have been reduced because employers had to face the probability of sharp competition with foreign producers on new terms.

It pleases our Democralic friends to asaign other reasona hy the score for this tremendous change. But nobody is convinced and nobody deceiv-They do not even cheat themselves. Even while they vociserate in Congresa that the tariff has made uo difference, they personally know better. The average Democratic member of Congresa knows as little as it is convenient to know about things generally, but he had pounded into him by angry consiltuents and their votes last Novamber some definite knowledge of the prostration of industries in his own district, and of its cause. He would consider himself a traitor to his party it he abould in the House one word of what he has thus learned, but he knows what defeated his party nevertheless.

It would be treason to his party, he thinks, to advocate any restoration of duties. Perfectly well he knows. by this time, that thousands of his conslituents are getting less wagea than two years ago because of the great change in possibilities of profits for manufacture, but he is not going to cenfess ahy such trulh. He knowa use Twelfth street on business and that men who receive $9 per week, hut used to get $12, cannot huy as many things of foreign or domeslit production as before. If the man were suffilently unmuzzled to tell the straight truth, he would admit that 25,000,000 aine dollar earners cannot huy as much as 25,000,000 twelve dollar earners, by$3,900,000,000 yearly. But he is to good a Democrat to teli lales

Very well, Gentlemen of Congress, it is your bed and you have made it. Until March 4 you will lie in it. But when the Republians get at business, their first duty will be to help the people to earn more and buy more. That is the first step also toward relleving the Treasury, and confidence in American Investments and preventus, Tom Rogers by name, has his ing the withdrawal of foreign capital. A Democratic President may not like che is perched among the low and to have r.peal of the tariff f1894thrust larger hranches of an Immense white before him, as the necessary first step toward financial and industrial health but he need not he surprised if a Republican Congress begins in exactly that rambling and eirenlar manner in or. way. A Smuggler's Device.

Several years ago I was an inspector of customs, and during my term of office I rna across some rather unique devices arranged for the purpose of getting contraband goods into this country duty free. One day I apprehended a woman who had just arrived on a steamer from Europe, suspecting that she had some smuggled tobacco in her possession. Upon examining her dress soveateen pounds of tobaceo were found concealed under it. But the most remarkable of the expedients the not encouraging reply. which she had resorted to for the "Madam, I would fain eat." purpose of deceiving the custom house officers was that of giving to the coatraband leaf the resemblance of a louf of bread. A quantity of out tobacco had been placed into a tin, over which a thin inyer of dough was spread, and this being baked, had the appearance of a veritable and edibie lonf. The quantity of tobacco which the woman had contrived to secrete in this and other modes amounted to over seventy pounds .- St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

His Remarks Concerning This Tronblesome Thing in Physiciany

During the past year we have learned a great deal about the new disease appendicitis it may be of interest to many readers to know that Charles Darwin, the great naturalist and philosopher, in his wonderful work, 'The Descent of Man,' written about thirty years ago, mentions it as one of the rudinientary organs now existing in civilized men. He speaks of the "vermiform appendage" as "With respect to the alimentary

camal, I have met with an account of only a single rudiment, namely, the vermiform appendage of the caecum. The caecum is a branch cr diverticulum of the intestine, ending in a cul-de-sac, and It is extremely long in many of the lower vegetablefeeding mammals. In the marsuplal koala it is actually thrice as long . as the whole body. It is sometimes produced into a long, gradually tapering point, and is sometimes coustricted in parts. It appears as if in eaed in various animals-the verniform appendage being left as rudimay infer from its small size, and from the evidence which Proi, Canestrine has collected of its variability In man. It is occasionally quite ab' sent, or again largely developed. The passage is sometimes completely closed for half or two thirds of its length, with the terminal part consis. ting of a flattened solid expansion. In the orang this appendage is long and convoluted in man. It arises from the end of the short caecum and is commonly from four to five inches in length, being only about a third of on inch in diameter. Not only it is useless, but it is sometimes the cause of death; of which fact 1 1 have lately heard two instances. This la due to amall, hard bodies, sach as aceds, entering the passage, and causing inflamation." So much for Darwin, whose knawledge of the cause of Inflamation in "death trap" in those days was undoubtedly somewhat limited; for in the two cases he mentions, he attributes it to seeds or other foreign substances lodging there, but the physieian and surgeon of to-day, with a much wider range of observation, holds different views. A surgeon of this city, who has had an extensive practice in this line, informs me that he had had but two or three cases where he felt positively assured, that a foreign substance caused the trouhle. In one case he founed a small peanut shuck; in the other a piece about the size of a small pea of what appeared to be charcoal. This patieat, a lady, had been for more than as it might be. The result is amus. a year taking a prepared of charcoal for dyspesia. The doctor often finds small, hard concretions of faccal matany lodgment of a foreign substance in the "death trap."-[Toledo Blade.

AN ANCIENT AMULET.

A Ring Unearthad Thought to Balong to the Fifteenth Century. As interesting bit of treasure trove has been unearthed at Hackney. While some laborers were digging in a plot of land in Daubeney rond, Hackney, one of them turned up with his pick a glitlering ring, which he took to a pawnbroker's ln Chatsworth road, for the purpose of converting it into houest coln of the region.. The assistant saw that it was an article of great value, and sent for a constable, to whom the iaboror told the story of how he found it. As his narrative was found to be true in every detail, nothing more was said to him, hut the ring was retained; and in order to ascertain its historical value the articlo was submitted to Mr. Reed, assistant curator of the British museum, who, having carefully examined ii, thought it was probably one of the sixteen rings which Sir Edward Shaw, goldsmith and alderman of the city of London, directed in his wili, in 1487, to be made as amulots, or charms against diseases -chiefly cramp. Mr. Reed added that the ring was similar in almost every respect to a much larger one in the museum, which was discovered at Coventry in 1802. The figures on the outside represented "The Crucifixion, the Virgin and Child," and (probably) "St. John." An inscription, also on the outside, runs: 'The Weil of Pity, the Well of Mercy, the Well of Comfort, the Weil of Grace, and the Weil of Everinatiag Life."-LondonTelegraph.
